Lifestyle Medicine

✔ Lifestyle medicine is the evidence-based practice of nutrition, fasting, movement, sleep, mind-body approaches like meditation, relaxation therapy and breathwork, substance reduction, social connection, social prescribing, connection to our natural world combined with behaviour change skills like health coaching, technology, translational research and model of care innovation.

✔ Choose from electives in research, public health, business and health professional education to align with your career goals. Complete your studies with a capstone project, where you will apply your understanding of lifestyle medicine to an industry-related issue.

✔ Students who complete a JCU Lifestyle Medicine degree will be eligible to apply for a Fellowship of the Australasian Society of Lifestyle Medicine.
