“Learning to become an occupational therapist has given me the chance to really make a difference in people’s lives, whether it’s enhancing childhood development, providing rehabilitation, promoting independence, or improving health and wellbeing. This would not have been possible without the support and guidance from the academic staff and JCU community who have inspired me to become the best occupational therapist I can be.”

Mackenzie Mete

BACHELOR OF OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY HONORS

“Students undertaking JCU’s Bachelor of Occupational Therapy (Honours) are presented with the fantastic opportunity of developing specialist knowledge and skills across a wide range of practice fields. Our graduates will work to promote health and wellbeing among individuals and groups by enabling participation in the various roles and activities that give them purpose and meaning. I take great satisfaction in getting to know students as individuals and helping them to recognise, embrace and develop the unique strengths and qualities that they can draw on in delivering authentic, dynamic and informed therapy provision.”

Daniel Lowrie

DEPT HEAD OF OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY

Career Opportunities

JCU Occupational Therapy (Honours) graduates have meaningful and rewarding careers providing essential services in communities throughout Australia.

Graduates gain employment in public and private hospitals, rehabilitation units, community health centres, aged care facilities, mental health services, schools, independent living centres, and in private practice.

You may also find employment in industry, research, education, and training.

Upon graduation, you can register for practice in Australia through the Occupational Therapists Board of Australia Health Professional Registration Agency \(AHPRA\), and become a member of Occupational Therapy Australia — the Australian association of occupational therapists. Graduates may also register to practice in New Zealand and apply to practice internationally.
